

Plot To Kill MacArthur Is Revealed; Seek Fugitive Chief

Tokyo, April 30 (AP) — General MacArthur was marked for assassination May Day — tomorrow — with hand grenades and pistols "some time during the day," according to a "reliable source" near his headquarters, his office announced today.

American authorities learned of the assassination plot through one of the participants whom Hideo Tokayama, the accused but unapprehended leader, attempted to poison, said Brig. Gen. Frayne Baker, MacArthur's public relations officer.

The Japanese government officially presented its apologies at MacArthur's office as reports of the plot — spreading like wildfire through Tokyo — stirred Japanese fears of harsher occupation policies.

Kyuchi Tokuda, general secretary of the Communist party, quickly said the communists weren't involved and added, "we have absolutely no reason to do away with General MacArthur."

Leader Was Kamikaze
Tokayama, former Kempitai (thought police) officer who later became a kamikaze (suicide) pilot, was known to possess grenades and pistols, Baker said. He was engaged for some time in preliminary arrangements to "enlist assistance" in a plot to kill MacArthur, a headquarters statement added, and accumulated 140,000 yen ($9,333) for the purpose.

"At one time in his negotiations he attempted to kill, by putting poison in his coffee, one of the plotters because he felt this man would fall," the announcement said. "Fortunately, the poison was not immediately fatal. He was taken by the Japanese police to an American hospital, where he was revived and detailed parts of the plot."

The informant, not identified by headquarters, will be kept in custody as one of the original plotters, Baker said. Japanese police released a photograph of Tokayama to the Japanese press in an effort to speed his arrest.

The headquarters announcement said:

Round Up Leaders
"A plot has been uncovered to assassinate the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers as an incident to the Communist parade and mass meeting scheduled for May 1. The leader of the plot is Hideo Tokayama, who has not yet been apprehended. Other known plotters still are at large, but are being rounded up."

Col. Harry I. T. Creswell, MacArthur's chief of Civil Intelligence, said his section "has no information as to Tokayama's politics. In fact, no political party was mentioned in connection" with the case. Creswell said an informant told headquarters of the plot five days ago. The informant related that five or six persons were involved.

No Extra Guards
Creswell said he expected stories in the Japanese press about the plot would aid in the apprehension of Tokayama and the others.

Identification of Tokayama was made by Col. Larry Bunker, MacArthur's assistant military secretary. No extra guards were visible around the MacArthur office today. The announcement stated "the Supreme Commander of the Allied Powers has again refused to permit any unusual precautions to be taken for the protection of his life."

Big labor celebrations are scheduled for Tokyo and other sections in Japan's first May Day observance in 11 years. Three hundred thousand are expected to gather in front of the imperial palace, one block from MacArthur's headquarters, for speeches and a parade.

"Forbidden Violence"

Kyuchi Tokuda, general secretary of the Japanese Communist party, told interviewers the plot "was one calculated to suppress Communist and other popular movements." He blamed it on "militarists and old-line capitalists" seeking to regain power. Tokuda, recently elected to the Diet, said his party had issued strict orders forbidding "any action which would cause violence or confusion." He said the Communists consider the Allied forces "a liberating force. We have cooperated with Allied policies and intend to do so. x x x

"We have absolutely no reason to do away with MacArthur."

WAR WORK OF FBI IS TOLD TO AREA ROTARIANS

The work of the FBI in seeking out espionage agents and in handling sabotage cases was outlined Monday evening for members of the Gettysburg, Hanover, Littlestown, and Hampstead Rotary clubs at a joint meeting of the clubs at Hanover.

J. Wallace Ransom, of the Philadelphia office of the FBI was the speaker.

Working closely with state and local police throughout the nation, the FBI began its "war work" in 1938 when it started investigating those persons who were suspected of being potentially dangerous to the nation in case of war. Within 72 hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor, 3,000 enemy agents were arrested throughout the nation. During the war a total of 16,000 persons were arrested for being dangerous to the nation and most were interned for the duration, Ransom said.

Accounts for Sabotage

"I believe that program was responsible for the fact that there were only 2,022 cases of actual sabotage during the war," Ransom said. Only a small number of the cases were actually instigated by enemy countries, the FBI agent said. As an example he asserted, one of the biggest sabotage cases, at the Glenn L. Martin plant, was caused by a worker who sabotaged some planes only because he disliked a navy inspector. Most sabotage, Ransom said, was caused by persons with grievances against individuals rather than persons who hated their country or were enemy agents, he added.

In the kidnapping field the FBI has investigated over 260 cases of which only two have not been completely solved, Ransom added. Investigation is continuing on the two. Of the 540,313 cases of alleged Selective Service violations only 13,600 were actual violations, while the remainder consisted only of carelessness on the part of individuals to notify the draft boards of changes in address, livelihood and the like, the speaker noted.

25 from Gettysburg

Sometimes Selective Service violations brought in the FBI on cases where the violation actually was not too closely related to the draft. The FBI tracked down four dangerous criminals who escaped from a state penitentiary. "Technically," Ransom added, "the reason the FBI was after the four was because they failed to notify the draft board when they changed their residence from the prison."

Twenty-five members of the Gettysburg club attended the session and about 20 from Littlestown.

One Ship Sunk Another Wrecked In Blasts At New Jersey Pier

New York, April 30 (AP)—The third naval district headquarters announced today that two explosions occurred aboard the U. S. S. Solar, Destroyer Escort 221, at the Leonard ammunition depot, Pier 1, Earle, N. J., about 10:45 a. m., (EST) today.

The ship later sank at her pier. The first was a moderate explosion and most of the personnel had an opportunity to get clear, the navy said, but several wounded were taken to army hospitals nearby.

The second explosion was described by the navy as of major violence and a lighter across the dock was demolished.

The navy said it had but few details on the blast, which was followed by fire on the pier.

"It is very bad—just how bad we don't know yet—and we have no reports on the casualties," the naval spokesman said.

DAVID PERRY IS LIONS SPEAKER AT ANNIVERSARY

David Perry, Camp Hill, former district governor of the Lions clubs of Pennsylvania and now a special deputy attorney general of the state, was the speaker at the 23rd birthday party and ladies' night meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening when past presidents of the club were specially honored. One hundred and ten members and guests attended the meeting in the Sunday school room of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

There were special selections by the Lions' glee club and three men were presented as new members of the club: J. Richard Hershey, John B. Kendeheart and Paul G. Pensinger.

Tribute was paid to the former presidents of the club, 13 of whom sat at the speaker's table, by whom Glenn L. Bream, the former club heads who were presented to the group included: C. Paul Cessna, fifth president of the local club and a former district governor; Dr. R. D. Wickerham, Dean W. E. Tilberg, R. W. Wentz, C. Ross Shuman, Dr. L. C. Keefeauver, Ralph Z. Oyler, Arthur E. Hutchison, Ira Y. Baker, also a former district governor; Henry T. Bream, G. W. Lefever, Hugh C. McIlhenny and J. Milton Bender.

"Saving Sense of Humor"
The glee club, which included Donald Myers, R. W. Wentz, Carl Menchey, John Kendeheart, D. E. Hess, Ralph Z. Oyler, George T. Raffensperger, Kermit I. Herter, and Milton R. Remmel, sang: "Passing By," "Home on the Range" and "Aure Lee."

Keeping the first part of his talk in a humorous vein, Past District Governor Perry told the Lions and Germans had any humor in their makeup, there could not have been a war. "A saving sense of humor is going to do a great deal to keep America on a sane path in world affairs," he asserted.

Pointing to the rapid growth of Lions clubs, "the greatest service organization in the world," he said that present-day Lionism represents the materialization of a dream of a century ago to "follow the Lord's admonition to do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Citing the good will being built for the United States in the countries of Central and South America, the speaker declared that Lionism is capable of accomplishing what statesmen have failed to do.

"Lionism will be tested by the calibre of the men it produces," he continued. "Lionism, as an organization, won't bring peace to the world but it is up to the individuals in the clubs to beat their swords into plowshares." He cited the Lion slogan: "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety," as the guiding principle for individual American action.

Dr. R. D. Wickerham introduced the speaker.

YEAR-OLD TROOP OF STATE GUARD 'WELL TRAINED'

Troop C, 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, Adams county's state guard unit which Saturday celebrated its first birthday, as a part of the state guard, received a better than "satisfactory" report from its recent inspection according to a report of the inspection received by Capt. C. Arthur Brame.

"Officers and men were well informed and the unit well trained," the official report of the inspection, sent to Lt. Col. Harry G. Banhoff, head of the First Cavalry by the inspecting officers.

The troop received 88 points out of a possible 100 during the inspection. The troop lost points in the scoring because it was 10 men under strength, because the men have not been vaccinated and inoculated, because there are not enough lockers at the armory for all men to have an individual locker and because the men do not have sufficient weapons and web equipment.

Training Problem Sunday

As a result of the inspection it was held possible that state officials may assign more equipment to the organization to bring it up to the federal standards. The organization is seeking 10 men to fill vacancies caused by drafting of members by the armed forces.

As far as the training locally was concerned, the federal officers conducting the inspection held that it was very satisfactory. They found "equipment well cared for and in excellent condition." Leadership, discipline and individual instruction were found to be of a high standard.

However the report pointed out that the "unit has no field equipment including packs, cartridge belts, blankets, shelter halves and some men do not have leggings." The state is scheduled to supply the local units with such supplies.

The organization will stage a training problem Sunday afternoon leaving the armory at 2 o'clock. At the conclusion of the problem a picnic will be held, Captain Brame said.

REICH VOTING IS HARD BLOW TO HITLERITES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The smashing victory of Germany's new political party, the Christian Social Union, in the county council elections in the American zone, should be recognized for what it really is—a triumph of Christian principles over the evils of Hitlerism which still tear at the vitals of the Reich.

That's vastly important, for this plague can only be eradicated by moral rehabilitation. You can keep the malefactors quiet by armed might, and you may achieve the vital demilitarization of Germany through a four-power 25-year mutual assistance pact as the United States proposes, but you can't reform the Nazis that way. Reform must come through a change of heart.

This political development is doubly important because Germany isn't the only country in Europe which has lost its moral grip as a result of the war. The striking success of the Christian Social Union in Germany, which is the center of the plague, gives hope that there may be a resurgence of morality in the affected areas of the distressed continent.

Christians Gain Forces
I encountered this politico-religious movement when I was in Germany two months ago. It was getting well under way then and represented the combination which its name indicates—people who subscribe to the tenets of Christianity.

It isn't a question of denomination at all. Catholics and Protestants—and undoubtedly any others who subscribe to this code of right—have joined hands, and the whole emphasis is laid on the Christian principles.

I found the military authorities in both the American and British zones utilizing fully the efforts of these workers for moral rehabilitation. At that time there had been no real test of strength at the polls, but it certainly is encouraging to see that they have won such an overwhelming battle with the ballot. Hitler deliberately set out to debase his people, and he succeeded with a huge section of them, but obviously there were many staunch citizens whom he didn't corrupt, and they now form the nucleus of the army of moral rehabilitation.

Fine Cooperation

This combination of the religions for the eradication of Hitlerism doesn't mean, of course, that the denominational work has been suspended. We had, for instance, the announcement a couple of weeks ago by the American military government that the famous Pastor Martin Niemöller expected to lead a reform movement throughout German Protestantism to eradicate all vestiges of Nazi control. The Catholic church with its big German membership also is continuing denominational activities. But for the purposes of political work these two great religious bodies are giving the world a fine demonstration of co-operation for the universal welfare.

Pastor Niemöller has declared that he thinks delays by the Allies in determining Germany's future are the greatest obstacle to destroying the last of Nazism. He says some younger Germans "are clinging to National Socialism like a man in the open sea clings to a plank, not because it is a very strong plank but because it is all he has. The young people just do not see the other plank. They must be shown something which makes democracy alluring."

Maybe, but that isn't the whole story by a long shot. It's quite as much a matter of moral collapse as it is of political uncertainty, as I see it. And, as already remarked, Germany isn't alone on the continent in this moral sickness.

ADOPT PLAN TO

ing program under way here by June 1. Particular emphasis will be placed on training for the GI who has purchased a farm, it being pointed out that if these men had not been in the service, they might have bought farms some time ago and had substantial payments made on them by this time.

The training will consist of four hours of classroom instruction per week and two hours of supervision on the farm weekly. For those who do not own farms, but seek farm training, the plan calls for four hours of classroom and one hour of supervision per week.

The veterans taking this training will be paid full subsistence, by the government of $90 per month for at least the first year of their training. If their earnings are increased the second year, their allotment will be reduced accordingly. In the case of the GI working for farm wages, his help from the government will also be reduced as his wages rise, under a contract with the farmer who employs him.

Rehabilitation—Not a Subsidy

It was stressed at the meeting that the government is not "subsidizing labor, but only trying to rehabilitate the veteran," and that the veteran entering the program simply to get $90 a month would soon "be found out" and his program cancelled. It was also stressed that the serviceman cannot have a job "in town" and get payments for work on a farm too.

All veterans under Public Law 346 must have a letter of entitlement before entering the courses but all veterans under Public Law 16, (disabled veterans) are eligible now. Applications may be made with Mr. Lighter at the court house.

Ford, Girls' Work Secretary of the YMCA will work with the Tri-Hi-Y council while Charles E. Ford, state boys' work secretary, will be related to Hi-Y council. Samuel E. Dibble, of the Patton School, Elizabethtown, will also appear on the program.

LEADERS MEET REAL TEST ON CIRCUIT SWING

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The major league's current pace makers—Brooklyn's precocious kids and Boston's slugging Red Sox—go on trial today when they engage the defending 1945 champions for the first time.

For the Dodgers' youthful crew, the opening interseasonal series takes them to Chicago and then around the horn to St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati will be an acid test.

Although the Brooks swept through the east on an eight-game winning spree until they collapsed at New York Sunday, they have been feasting on inept pitching offered by the Phillies and Giants.

In the American league, the Red Sox must open up against the Detroit's ace, Hal Newhouse, winner of his first three starts.

Joe Cronin has been getting fine pitching from Mickey Harris and Joe Dobson with Tex Hughson and Dave Ferriss ready to hit their true stride but the slugging has been the thing in Boston.

Shortstop Johnny Pesky, who couldn't hit in spring training, is burning up the league with a .391 average, big Ted Williams boasts a .367 mark and catcher Hal Wagner is close behind at .364. Two other regulars, center fielder Dominic DiMaggio and first sacker Ruddy York are well over the .300 level.

Feller "Peved" While the Red Sox are tangling with the world champions, the Yankees open a long home stand with Cleveland. Manager Lou Boudreau has nominated a slightly "peved" Bobby Feller to take the hill today. It seems Rapid Robert is upset by the inference in some quarters that he is "slipping" because he dropped two of his first three starts.

Washington's slow start has been cause for concern in the east but Ossie Bluege hopes to get his left-handed hitting lineup started against the Chicago White Sox toppers, Luke Sewell's St. Louis Browns, off to a .500 start, hope to climb into contention by slapping down Philadelphia in the other series opener.

In other national league interseasonal openers, New York is at St. Louis, Boston at Cincinnati and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh.

FAIRFIELD WINS ON LATE RALLY

Fairfield high school's baseball team rallied for three runs in the last half of the final inning to defeat Emmitsburg high 10-9 in a game played Monday afternoon at Fairfield.

Newman opened the last of the seventh frame with a triple and Wolf was struck by a pitched ball. Singles by R. Weikert and J. Weikert, combined with several stolen bases, produced the winning runs.

Ruth Says Game Was Not Mentioned

New York, April 30 (AP)—Babe Ruth was all set today to fly to Mexico May 15 for a "vacation" at the invitation of Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican league.

Ruth said he would stay in Mexico "from 10 days to two weeks" but insisted that baseball was not even mentioned in his conversation with Pasquel or in the final discussions with Mario Loustou, Pasquel's New York representative.

The Bambino refused comment on the possibility he might be offered the post of baseball commissioner of Mexico.

POSTPONE MATCH

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, April 30 (AP)—When Ohio State U. stages its spring football clinic for high school coaches next week, the big attraction may not be Navy's Capt. Tom Hamilton and Big Ten Commissioner Tug Wilson but a little-known full-back named Joe Whistler. . . . Buckeye fans already are plugging him as a rival for Doc Blanchard. He's a 210-pounder who "really makes mincemeat" out of a line. . . . In addition, Quarterback Tom Phillips also will show for the first time. . . . Both were 1942 freshmen who have been in the armed forces ever since. . . . Only seven home runs were hit in Washington's Griffith stadium during the 1945 season. On the first two days this year Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio and Jeff Heath all hit for the circuit in Griff's ball park.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Bruce Drake, Oklahoma U. basketball and golf coach, claims that Andy Anderson, Husky 190-pound freshman, can drive as far as the best of the pros. "I gave him three new golf balls before one of our matches," says Drake. "When he brought them in they looked like eggs." . . . Bruce had better get that golf off the team until the golf ball shortage is over. . . . Dewey Fragetta, wholesale dealer in fistcuffs, reports a "little known Indian bone-setter" has fixed Lee O. Murray's hands so that Lee Q. is punching harder than ever. Did he have an Indian sign or were they about to give Murray back to the Indians? . . . Buck Clarey, the Ithaca Journal scribe who filled in for years as Cornell's athletic publicity director, finally yielded the post to speed Wilson because "two fulltime jobs is too much."

RANK DECISIONS
Seven of the eight umpires signed this season by President Tom Fairweather of the Western association are discharged veterans of World War II. . . . And can you imagine what will happen the first time an ex-private or second looney calls a close one against a former sergeant?

Mack Disappointed, Seeks New Players

Philadelphia, April 30 (AP)—Eighty-three-year-old Connie Mack admits disappointment in his 1946 edition of the Philadelphia Athletics and announces "I'm willing to buy good players but I want to be sure they are better than what I have now."

The A's have won only two of this season's 12 starts.

Mack, manager of the A's for the past 40 years, says he's still hopeful the team will get out of the dumps.

"There isn't a player on my team who shouldn't be batting over .250, yet most of them aren't even close to that mark," he said.

Meantime, the A's announced purchase of outfielder Russ Derry from the New York Yankees for $7,500.

Ike Williams Rules
2 To 1 Over Bolanos
Los Angeles, April 30 (AP)—Deadpan Ike Williams, NBA lightweight champion from Trenton, N. J., ruled a 1 to 2 favorite over Challenger Enrique (the Beezer) Bolanos of Durango, Mex., for their 15-round, outdoor title bout tonight at Wrigley Field.

Barring rain, a 25,000 crowd and a $100,000-plus gate appeared certain for the first major open-air fight here in two years.

The hard-hitting Williams was tabbed to make his first title defense a winning one, possibly via the knockout route. The champion's two-fisted barrages have slumbered 33 opponents in 81 fights during his rugged six-year career.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A School Site Chosen: On Monday night the School Board bought from J. Emory Blair and Calvin Gilbert the triangle between the Chambersburg pike and the Springs Avenue. The price paid was $1500. The portion east of Stevens Run was included so that the approach could be controlled. It will be sold to the Emergency Regimental Association. On the remaining portion the new High School building will be erected.

(Ad) C. A. Blocher, the jeweler, has returned from his Florida trip, and is now giving his personal attention to his business where he will be glad to serve his customers.

Marriages: Favorite - Slonaker. April 26, in the Reformed Church at Cashtown, by Rev. J. P. Mackley, Frank J. Favorite, of Hagerstown, Md., to Miss Annie E. Slonaker, of Cashtown.

Robinson-Thomas: April 24, in this place, by Rev. T. J. Barkley, Samuel Robinson, of Cumberland township, to Miss Cora E. Thomas, of Butler township.

Mosby-Gordan: April 30, in this place, by Rev. B. H. Freeman, Albert Mosby, to Miss Rosa Gordan, both of Mt. Holly Springs, Pa.

Wedding Bells: On Wednesday at noon the home of the Rev. Dr. M. Valentine, of this place, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the contracting parties being his youngest daughter, Miss Margaret Grayson Valentine and Mr. Henry Warren Siegert, of Lebanon. The house was beautifully decorated with apple blossoms, palms and lilacs.

Shortly after twelve o'clock, the bridal procession appeared, led by the groom and his best man, Mr. Charles W. Few, of Lebanon, followed by the two bridesmaids, Miss Carrie Van Cleave, of this place, and Miss Ada Miller, of Philadelphia, the maid of honor, Miss Anna Galt, of Taneytown, Md., and the bride, escorted by her brother, Mr. Sterling Galt Valentine, of Lebanon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Milton Valentine, assisted by his son, the Rev. Milton H. Valentine, of Philadelphia.

After the ceremony a reception followed and a wedding breakfast was served.

The bridal couple will go to house-keeping in Lebanon, where Mr. Siegert is connected with the Cornwall and Lebanon Railroad.

Hummelbaugh-McGuigan: A very pretty wedding occurred on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Clarence W. Hummelbaugh and Miss Minnie Gertrude McGuigan were quietly united in wedlock at the bride's home on Chambersburg street. The Rev. Dr. T. J. Barkley performed the ceremony about 10 o'clock; (the groom being a printer), the boys from the STAR and COMPILER offices united in the organization of an old-time Callithumpian band, and tendered the bridal couple a serenade, the principal feature of which was a trombone solo, rendered by "Sam" Little, of the COMPILER staff.

Sheriff's Sales: On Saturday Sheriff McIlhenny sold these properties: Col. Henry Yingling's brick house in Gettysburg, adjoining the Eagle and known as the old Gruel property, brought $5275.00. It went to W. Ernest Ziegler.

Samuel M. Bushman bought the George Watson property in Hamilton township, a brick house, for $800.

The Criswell property in Straban township, containing 80 acres, was purchased by John A. McCurdy and William P. Quimby, Esq., two of the executors of David Willis, dec'd., for $625.

THE CHIN

The chin's a feature of the face By which man's character we trace. Held up, it shows the will to bear Whatever comes of hurt and care. Allowed to sag, it shows despair.

Square-cut or rounded, all's the same;

The chin tells how man plays the game.

Man's battle hard; his chances slim. The going rough, the prospects dim.

His chin displays the heart of him.

The world accepts the lifted chin As symbol of man's will to win.

It gives a lustre to the eye; Proclaims a man is passing by.

So watch your chin, and keep it high.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
PAINTINGS THAT INSPIRE

How little we realize the extent to which a painter puts his own self into his painting. Henri, the American painter, spoke of Renoir as producing strokes that moved "in unison," and which had an "interplay that slightly or fully complement each other."

There is an upward, lifting tendency to many paintings that we feel the moment we look upon them. And there are other paintings that depress us, lower our emotions, and make us want to pass them by quickly. You see, a painter puts himself into his work, unconsciously. He does not know that he is painting himself upon his canvas, to a greater or lesser extent, all the time. Even in sculpture you are aware of this.

Before me is a painting by that great master, Alphonse Legros. It is of Hampstead Heath, in England. It is a peaceful and beautiful example uplifting in its entirety. Legros was a quiet, inspiring human being, and a great teacher. He imbued each pupil with a love for beauty and honest expression. He became impatient with anyone who would not strive for correct drawing. This painting, which I so much prize, is said to have been painted before his pupils.

Go into any art gallery and watch those who sit for a long time, or stand happily before a fine work of art, and you can almost imagine what they are thinking of it. Many go into such a place to get peace and comfort—peace and comfort that the artist has bequeathed to those who are able to appreciate and understand.

Whistler's famous painting of his mother is loved and admired by millions because we all carry around in our heart the love of a mother. Whistler put his own heart into that painting of his own mother.

There are paintings that have the qualities of silk and velvet. A poetic spirit seems to flow about many of them. A Corot, for example; or look upon a Millet for a quiet, sympathetic love for the worker, or toiler in the field. What a wealth of simplicity and human understanding in all the work of this great master—Millet! He never drew, etched, or painted anything that wasn't beautiful and inspiring.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "We-In Ourselves" partnership now existing between Guyon H. Buehler, A. Danner Buehler and John B. McPherson proprietors of the Star and Sentinel, under the firm name of Buehler & Co., will terminate by the terms of the contract, on the 23rd of May. After that date Mr. Guyon H. Buehler will be the sole owner, the other two members having agreed to dispose of their interests to him.

Mr. A. Danner Buehler will remain with the paper and will have charge of the mechanical department.

Mr. Hart Gilbert has accepted the position of Editor under the new management.

Personal Mention: William A. Scott, Esq., has gone to visit his brother, John, who lives in Mississippi.

William E. Myers, proprietor of Monocacy Mills, near Harney, Md., and father of Penrose Myers, of this place, received a severe paralytic stroke on Monday.

Miss Mary McConaughy has returned after spending the winter in Philadelphia. Mrs. McConaughy arrived on Tuesday evening.

Miss Anna Galt, of Taneytown is the guest of Miss Virginia O'Neal. C. A. Blocher who spent the winter in Florida for the benefit of his health arrived in Gettysburg on Friday evening, with his family. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he has been much benefited by his vacation and is now prepared to receive them in his place of business.

Harry Baker, of Fairplay, has secured a position in Baltimore, to which place he recently moved. Miss Lula Kitzmiller is visiting friends in Washington, D. C.

GOVERNMENT PUTS HEAT ON BLACK MARKET

Washington, April 30 (P)—The Government turned more heat on the black market today with the double aim of improving the domestic food situation and halting the diversion of famine relief supplies for overseas.

The Justice Department announced the start of a "vigorous crackdown" on income tax evaders suspects of reaping huge black market profits.

"We're going after these fellows," Attorney General Tom Clark announced, promising that the drive "will be strengthened and accelerated."

To Push Enforcement

OPA also disclosed a stepped-up enforcement campaign, aimed primarily at the black market in meat, which Secretary of Agriculture Anderson said is thwarting the nation's efforts to meet relief export goals in land and meat.

Administrator Paul Porter said that OPA soon will have 850 enforcement agents working against the meat black markets, as compared with about 650 at present and some 400 ninety days ago. Porter was hopeful of "a marked change" in the situation within the next two months.

The broad food picture was marked by these developments:
1. The Agriculture department reported that it will take five years to restore European food production to pre-war levels.
2. Another agriculture report placed the nation's April corn supply stock 19 per cent under last year's figures.

Appeals To Clergy

Secretary Anderson warned that food shortages here may continue into 1948 and asserted in a speech yesterday that further food sacrifices will be sought from the people. He did not go into details on the latter point.

4. Latest Government statistics disclosed that the general level of farm product prices soared this month to their highest mark since July, 1920. The lift came from major advances in prices for meat animals, fruits and cotton.

President Truman canvassed the food situation again yesterday in a conference with four high-ranking aides. A brief while earlier he appealed to a group of 300 Washington clergymen for their help in promoting food conservation.

"You can help in that. You can make the people realize their responsibility. You can awaken in them the moral responsibility that goes with leadership," he said.

SURPLUS CITED IN MARTIN PLEA

Milford, Pa., April 30 (P)—Attorney General James H. Duff said today Pennsylvania's treasury surplus "may reach $200,000,000 during the current administration."

Duff, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, made the statement in appealing for the election of Governor Edward Martin to the U. S. Senate because "we need the kind of sound financing in the nation that we have in Pennsylvania."

Making a campaign swing through northeastern counties, Duff asserted in a prepared address that the choice of Martin over U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey, incumbent Democrat, in November "will give Pennsylvania a strong voice in introducing in Washington a financial policy which has enabled this commonwealth to amass" its surplus.

Deficit Spending
Pennsylvania's surplus totaled approximately $170,000,000 at the end of the 1943-45 biennium, including $110,000,000 in general revenues and the balance in the motor fund. All of the general fund surplus was appropriated, however, by the 1945 Legislature.

Duff, in his address, said "the federal government's policy of deficit spending continues unabated. We have a national debt of 275 billion dollars. x x x We must start immediately to pay out less money than we take in."

Blames Government For Nylon Shortage

Harrisburg, Pa., April 30 (P)—William S. Livengood, Jr., Pennsylvania's Secretary of Internal Affairs, tells Keystone state women to blame the shortage of nylon and rayon hosiery "on the government."

Reviewing a survey by his department's Bureau of Statistics, Livengood said "many Pennsylvania hosiery manufacturers trace the present scarcity of hosiery to government regulations and unwise bureaucratic decisions."

Battlewagons Start For Testing Grounds

Long Beach, Calif., April 30 (P)—Three old battlewagons churned towards the Bikini atoll waters today to be used as guinea pigs in the coming atomic bomb tests.

They are the battleship Pennsylvania and the cruisers Salt Lake City and Pensacola. The Pennsylvania, commissioned in 1916 and damaged in the Pearl Harbor attack, left here Wednesday.

Two more battleships, the Nevada and Arkansas, are scheduled to depart for the far Pacific testing site Wednesday.

HELP VETERANS CLEAR RECORDS

Harrisburg, April 30 (P)—The state Board of Parole set up machinery today to help parolees with World War II service clear up their pre-war criminal records.

Dr. G. I. Giardini, superintendent of parole supervision, said special applications will be used to bring pleas for commutations of men with honorable discharges from military service before the state Board of Pardons.

Governor Martin grants pardons or commutations of sentence upon the recommendation of the Pardon Board. Reduction of the sentence of any parolee to the time already served releases the man from any further parole supervision while a pardon restores all citizenship rights.

"We hope to bring the first cases before the Pardon Board at its June session," Dr. Giardini stated. "After the end of the Pardon Board's summer recess, we have to have quite a few more applications prepared."

Investigate Cases

Emphasizing that "no wholesale amnesty for parolees" is planned, the official said before any application is forwarded to the Pardon Board with parole agency's backing, a careful individual investigation will be made of the past record in the field.

"There will be some veterans who will still need parole supervision," he explained.

Approximately 2,880 parolees from Pennsylvania prisons served in the armed forces up to March 31 when there were still 884 in service.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 16 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WHY

work and sweat for years
for inefficient hot water

from a Furnace
Coil?

In winter, every fifth shovel of coal you handle goes to heat the water in your furnace coil. In summer, you must still toil up and down stairs to keep a fire going, no matter how high the outside temperature may soar, just so you can eke a little hot water from the furnace coil. And summer or winter, the resulting hot water is most inefficient—ranging from practically live steam to a tepid trickle.

SWITCH TO GAS...

THE MODERN METHOD

Why not free yourself from all this by switching to the most modern method for water heating—Gas. Then you can forget about how you are going to have ample, all year round, even temperatured hot water. The Gas Water Heater is fully automatic, requires little or no maintenance, is most inexpensive to operate. It eliminates fuel and ash handling for hot water. You'll wonder why you didn't install it before.

CATTLE—Stocker and feeder cattle comprised the bulk of the receipts at the opening of this week. Slaughter cattle in meager supply, especially in the beef and bull divisions. Trading in general in the slaughter cattle sections slow with the outlet hampered by quota limitations. Outside buyers not near so aggressive in buying as in the past several weeks with a few of them off the market entirely. Local and big packer buyers able to increase their buy over the past several weeks.
Slaughter steers largely 25 cents lower than the close of last week with a few sales as much as 50 cents lower. The top steer price of the day, $18.50, paid for a single choice fed steer weighing 1,200 pounds. Several loads and lots of top-grade and choice fed steers, covering a wide range of weights, $16.50—17. Low and average-grade steers, $15—16.50, mostly $15—16, and a few medium-grade arrivals around $13. Load of good to mostly choice fed steers still in first hands. Heifers barely steady with the close of last week. Top-grade fed arrivals, $15.50—16, with low and average-grade, short-feds, $14—15. Common and medium arrivals, $10.50—13.50.
Cow trading uneven. Medium grade cows along with canners and cutters barely steady with last week's close, while common or "inbetween" cows, weak to 25 cents lower. Smooth young medium grade cows, $12—13, with a few high-yielding individuals $12.25—13.50, and an odd head sparingly $15. Common grade cows, cow-carrying fat and flesh, but aged and "hippy," $9.50—11.50. Canners and cutters, $7.50—9, with a larger percentage $7.50 than in recent weeks. Bull receipts too meager and outlet too broad to warrant too much change in the price structure in this close. Good beef bulls, $14—15.00. Good weighty sausage bulls, $13—13.50, with an odd head to $18.75. Cutters, common and medium grades, $10—12.50. Steers and feeders fairly active and steady with the close of last week. Several lots of medium to top-grade stocker and feeder steers and heifers, covering wide range of weights, $14.50—16.75.
Calves—Valuable and weighty slaughter calf trading slow today with the outlet greatly hampered by quota limitations. At the opening of the market, a few heavy sales steady with last week's close. However, at the close of the trading session all grades of calves $1.10—1.60 lower than the opening of the market. At the close of the market, mixed lots of good and choice 120—200 pound vealers, $16, mainly $17, with a few selected vealers, $18—19.00. Slaughter calves active and steady. Choice lightweight vealer slaughter calves, $8, with common to good grades, $4.50—7.50, according to grade and condition.

By Sir Walter Scott

Chapter 24

When Albert Malvoisin, Preceptor of Templestowe appeared before the Grand Master, he was regarded with unwonted sternness.

"There is in this mansion, dedicated to the purposes of the Holy Order of the Temple," said the Grand Master, in a severe tone, "a Jewish woman, brought hither by a brother of religion by your connivance, Sir Preceptor."

Albert Malvoisin was overwhelmed with confusion; for he read in the looks of Beaumanoir ruin to Bois-Guilbert and to himself, unless he should be able to avert the impending storm.

"How comes it, thou hast suffered a brother to bring a paragon, and that paragon a Jewish sorceress, into this holy place?"

"A Jewish sorceress!" echoed Albert Malvoisin: "good angels guard us!"

"Ay, brother, a Jewish sorceress!" said the Grand Master sternly. "I have said it."

"Your wisdom, reverend father," answered the Preceptor, "hath rolled away the darkness from my understanding. Much did I wonder that so good a knight as Brian de Bois-Guilbert seemed so fondly besotted on the charms of this female, whom I received into this house merely to place a bar betwixt their growing intimacy, which else might have been cemented at the expense of the fall of our valiant and religious brother. But since your reverend wisdom hath discovered this Jewish queen to be sorceress, perchance it may account fully for his enamoured folly."

"It were deep pity," said Conrade Mont-Fitchet "to lose to the order one of its best lance, when the holy community must require the aid of its sons. But concerning this foul witch, who hath flung her enchantments over a brother of the Holy Temple, assuredly she shall die the death."

"But the laws of England," said the Preceptor, who, though delighted that the Grand Master's resentment, thus fortunately averted from himself and Bois-Guilbert had taken another direction, began now to fear he was carrying it too far.

"The laws of England," interrupted Beaumanoir, "permit and enjoin each judge to execute justice within his own jurisdiction. And shall that power be denied to the Grand Master of the Temple within a preceptory of his order? No!—we will judge and condemn. Prepare the Castle-hall for the trial of the sorceress."

Albert Malvoisin bowed and retired—out to give directions for preparing the hall, but to seek out Brian de Bois-Guilbert, and communicate to him how matters were likely to terminate.

"Lucas Beaumanoir!" said Bois-Guilbert, reproachfully. "Are these your precautions, Malvoisin? Hast thou suffered the dotard to learn that Rebecca is in the Preceptory?"

"How could I help it?" said the Preceptor. "I neglected nothing that could keep secret your mystery; but it is betrayed, and whether by the devil or no, the devil only can tell. But I have turned the matter as I could; you are safe if you renounce Rebecca. You are pitied—the victim of magical delusion. She is a sorceress, and must suffer as such."

"She shall not, by Heaven!" said Bois-Guilbert.

"By Heaven, she must and will," said Malvoisin. "Neither you nor any one else can save her. Lucas Beaumanoir hath settled that the death of a Jewess will be a sin-offering sufficient to atone for all the amorous indulgences of the Knights Templars; and thou knowest he hath both the power and will to execute so reasonable and pious a purpose."

"Will future ages believe that such stupid bigotry ever existed!" said Bois-Guilbert, striding up and down the apartment.

"What they may believe, I know not," said Malvoisin, calmly; "but I know that in this our day clergy and laymen, take ninety-nine to the hundred, will cry amen to the Grand Master's sentence."

"Thou speakest the truth, Malvoisin," said Brian de Bois-Guilbert, after a moment's reflection. "I will give the hoary bigot no advantage over me; and for Rebecca, she hath not merited at my hand that I should expose rank and honour for her sake. I will cast her off—yes, I will leave her to her fate."

"Good! I must order the hall for his judgment-seat."

"What!" said Bois-Guilbert "so soon?"

"Ay," replied the Preceptor, "trial moves rapidly on when the judge has determined the sentence beforehand."

The Preceptor had hardly given the necessary orders when he was joined by Conrade Mont-Fitchet. "Albert, I will be upright with thee—wizard or not, it were better that this miserable damsel die than that Brian de Bois-Guilbert should be lost to the order."

"But the proofs are so weak!"

"They must be strengthened, Albert," replied Mont-Fitchet. "Dost thou understand me?"

"There is," replied Malvoisin "among those who came hither with Bois-Guilbert, two fellows whom I well know; servants they were to my brother Philip de Malvoisin. It may be they know something of the witcheries of this woman."

"Away, seek them out instantly—and mark thee, if a byzant or two will sharpen their memory, let them not be wanting."

The ponderous castle-bell had tolled the point of noon, when Rebecca heard a tramping of feet upon the private stair which led to her place of confinement. The door of the chamber was unlocked, and Conrade and the Preceptor Malvoisin entered attended by four warders clothed in black, and bearing halberds.

"Daughter of an accursed race!" said the Preceptor, "arise and follow us."

As Rebecca entered the great hall in which the Grand Master had established his court, a scrap of paper was thrust into her hand.

Chungking, April 30 (P)—Further negotiations for a truce in embattled Manchuria faced considerable delay today as Chinese Communists awaited new attacks predicted by pro-government sources here.

The Legal Profession

My knowledge of this was natural—much less intimate than that of the medical profession—and the fact that I do not make mention of some of its members is not to be construed in an invidious sense.

Civil Law was dominated by Hon. David Wills.

He was born in Menallen Twp., in 1831, a descendant of David Wills who came to America in 1730, from Ireland, was admitted to the bar in 1854. He was the first superintendent of county schools. He was one of the group, the prime mover, I think, which originated the movement for the establishment of the National cemetery. He owed his title to the fact that when Adams county was made a separate Judicial district, he was appointed to the bench by Governor Hartranft. He was defeated for election by Hon. William McClean, the county then being heavily Democratic, and the word "non-partizan" had not yet been coined.

Lauds Judge Wills

His untimely death, 20 years later, in the full swing of a moving campaign in which it was universally predicted he would win, prevented what, as he said to Mother when she congratulated him on the prospects, would have been, "an honorable end to my career," gave S. McC. Swope, an actively political lawyer, the chance of his life, when he was thrown into the breach by the Republican county committee, at the last moment.

Judge Wills was generally regarded as a "hard man"—but, if ever the God of the widow and the fatherless had a representative on earth, it was David Wills. I know whereof I speak.

He was a man of calm austere dignity—but occasionally gave vent to biting sarcasm. On one occasion he was opposed by a lawyer, considerably older than himself, notorious for his glossy brown hair, who was annoying him in court with some absurd contention, he turned and said—"My dear sir, I think the excessive use of hair dye must have added your brain."

His evening drive, whenever the weather permitted, with his colored coachman, and members of his family was a certainty, daily looked for. He was one of the few who kept horses for other than business purposes. J. Cassatt Neely, Esq., Hon. Edward McPherson, Dr. John A. Swope, Drs. Breidenbaugh and Baugher were among those who did, there were probably other I do not remember, but they were few.

His house, well known historically, still stands, externally unchanged, except for the outrageous removal of the beautiful old entrance on York street.

The Neelys and Duncans

Fathers and sons, they dominated the criminal law practice of the community.

A picturesque member of the profession, the dean of the bar, was "Judge" Samuel Russell. He was retired, when I knew him. He lived in a frame house near the Corner of Stratton and York streets—the first half lot on the north side of the second square was vacant, the present site of a garage. Born in 1801, elected an associate judge in 1851, in 1881, at the age of 80, he was still "going strong." He held to the old-fashioned attire, even to the silk "stock," all his life.

The elder members of the bar were:

Robert G. McCreary, whose office and residence were where Fisher's stone fronts on York street.

David McConaughy, who lived on Chambersburg street, next to Buehler's drug store—the place was last a restaurant. He was one of the oldest families of the county, and in professional age, I think he came next to Judge Russell. He was admitted to the bar in 1845.

Next, in point of age, I think, came John M. Krauth and Jacob Kitzmiller. Both had been Civil War soldiers, and postmasters; William McSherry, opposite the court house, for many years; Hart Gilbert; John L. Hill, who was satisfied to spend most of his years as a justice of the peace, probably the longest tenure of that office in Gettysburg's history.

Samuel McC. Swope was Gettysburg's premier orator. He could orate on any subject, and leave you with a feeling that he knew what he was talking about, and meant what he said.

Two of the then young members of the bar—both winners of the Graeff English prize at college, who proved to be, I think, over a long period the most brilliant lawyers that Gettysburg had, were:

George J. Benner, who graduated 1878. He was one of the youngest members of Congress ever elected here. Unfortunately he went into eclipse, for a number of years. He "came back," eventually to command sufficient respect to become a candidate for the judgeship.

W. Clarence Sheely, who graduated, 1882. While he was perhaps a slower starter, he reached a commanding position in the bar, surpassed by none. His untimely death, in the fullness of his powers was a definite loss to the community.

There were others, of course, but I do not specifically remember them, having had no contact with them.

Tokyo, April 30 (AP)—Unlike bygone days when between 25,000 and 30,000 people used to gather at Nijubashi bridge, the emperor's entrance to the palace grounds, to wish Japan's ruler a "happy birthday," only several hundred were present Monday. Most of them were American GI's. The emperor is 45.
